Notice of Completion of Environmental Study Report

Midtown Oakville Transportation and Stormwater Municipal Class Environmental Assessment (EA)

Public review of the Environmental Study Report available until July 4, 2014

The Town of Oakville has completed the Midtown Oakville Transportation and Stormwater Municipal Class Environmental Assessment and the study report is now available for public review for 30 days.

The study was undertaken to determine a practical, long-term strategy to guide the development of the transportation and municipal stormwater network required to support the planned growth in Midtown to 2031.

This study is a continuation of the Transportation Master Plan Study (Switching Gears, 2012) to further assess the infrastructure needs in Midtown Oakville to meet Phase 3 and 4 of the Class EA planning and design process, as outlined in the Municipal Engineers Association "Municipal Class Environmental Assessment," (October 2000, as amended in 2011). This study is being carried out in a transparent public process under the Environmental Assessment Act and follows a Schedule "C" EA process in the Municipal Class EA guidelines.

The overall preferred concept, presented in the final draft report, outlines opportunities for improving connectivity, accessibility and livability needed to accommodate pedestrians, cyclists, transit users and motorists; enhancing the public realm and establishing a mix of uses to support the future growth of Midtown.

The final draft environmental study report is available for review online at oakville.ca or in hard copy at the following locations:
